How Watch Cases are Made.

A plate of SOLID GOLD 14 2-10 karats fine is soldered on each side of a plate of hard nickel composition metal, and the three are then passed between polished steel rollers. From this plate the various parts of the cases—backs, centers, bezels, etc. are cut and shaped by dies and formers. The gold is thick enough to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving, and engine-turning. The composition metal gives it needed strength, stiffness and solidity, while the written guarantee of the manufacturers warranting each case to wear twenty years proves that it contains all the gold that can possibly be needed. This guarantee is given from actual results, as many of these cases have been worn perfectly smooth by years of use without wearing through the gold. DUBUQUE, IA., Dec. 14, 1880.

I have used one of your James Boss' Gold Watch Cases for seven years. I bought it second-hand and know of its having been used before I got it, but do not know how long. It looks good for ten years longer. Did not suspect it was a filled case until was informed by a jeweler a short time since. I most cheerfully recommend your cases to be all they are represented to be, and more.

BLOOMSBURG & SULLIVAN R. R.

REPORT OF

JOHN A. WILSON,

CIVIL ENGINEER.

DATED PHILADELPHIA NOV. 26, 1883, AND ADDRESSED TO COL. JAMISON, BLOOMSBURG, PA.

DEAR SIR:—During the past season a survey has been made by Mr. James Brown of Bloomsburg, for a line of Railway from Rupert, Columbia Co., to Bernice in Sullivan County. By your direction, Mr. Brown brought the notes of his survey to my office, and I have furnished him with assistance to work them out, and to prepare a map, profile and estimate of quantities. I have consulted with Mr. Brown and advised him as to the details of Location and mode of Construction. During the present month I have made a personal examination of the country through which the proposed Railroad is located, having passed along the Valley of Fishing Creek from Rupert to the foot of the mountain, and having spent several days on the mountain between Ganoga Lake and Bernice.

I herewith present the results of my examinations, together with those of Mr. Brown's survey.

The line selected commences on the Catawissa R. R. near Rupert Station and follows up the Valley of Fishing Creek to the foot of the mountain, a distance of about 27 miles. This portion of the route is along an open alluvial valley, and the selected location is for the most part at or near the foot of the hill on one side or the other of the valley, though sometimes extending across stretches of bottom land. On reaching the foot of the mountain the line deflects to the westward, and follows the west branch of Fishing Creek for some distance. The North mountain, which is a Spur from the Great Allegheny plateau, faces boldly to the South with precipitous front, rising about 1200 feet in a little over half a mile. It is cut by numerous gorges which have steep fall, rugged slopes and sharp jutting points. In order to make the ascent with reasonable grades, distance must be had, which necessarily lengthens the line. The location follows along the South side of the West fork of Fishing Creek for some distance, curves round, crosses the stream and follows along the North side of the Ravine, doubles up and back along a branch coming in from the North, known as Painter Run, and reaching the West side of Elk Run follows that stream to its head, reaching the summit 45½ miles from Rupert, at an elevation of about 2300 feet above the tide level.

North of the Summit the Plateau stretches out in rolls and undulations, broken by numerous streams. Taking advantage of these, the located line takes a Northerly direction to the head waters of Painter Den Run, one of the branches of Lopez Creek, follows that stream to its intersection with the Loyalsock Creek, thence up Pidgeon Creek (which comes in from the North) then deflects to the Westward, follows the contour of the hills North of the Loyalsock Creek, and connects at Bernice with the Sullivan and State line Railroad. The total length of the line is 60½ miles.

From Rupert to the foot of the mountain, 27 miles, the ruling grades are:—ascending Northward 52 8-10 feet per mile, decending Northward 42 feet per mile. A line could be located with continuous ascending grades Northward, but a few adverse grades have been introduced to lighten the graduation.

From the foot of of the mountain to the summit, 18. 1-2 miles, the maximum ascending grade Northward is 90 feet per mile, and the average rise 72. 8-10 per mile, descending grades Northward none. From the summit to Bernice 15 miles, the ruling grades are 90 feet per mile, in both directions. Along the valley of Fishing Creek the aligament is generally good. On the mountain portion of the road the nature of the ground requires sharp curvature, and in doubling the ravines and sharp points curves of 359 feet radius have been used.

The Allegheny mountain passes through Central Penna., on the West side of Bald Eagle and Susquehanna Valleys, its escarpment following a line almost due North East until it reaches a point about North of Williamsport when it bears almost due East to the junction of Lycoming, Columbia and Sullivan Counties at which place it throws out to the Southward the North mountains as a bold spur, then bears again to the North East and crosses the North Branch of the Susquehanna River to Tunkhannock. The Eastern and Southern face of the mountain is generally abrupt, while West of the summit it spreads out into a rolling plateau of great extent. Many streams head in the plateau. Some of them traverse considerable distances in the plateau, a few cut through the escarpment of the mountain, but all find their vent in either the North or West Branch of the Susquehanna, both of which streams cut the mountain to its base. In the region near the line of your proposed Railroad we find the waters of Fishing Creek flowing to the South and emptying into the Susquehanna near Bloomsburg. At the head of Fishing Creek proper we find the East and West branches, Coles Creek and Raven Run, while further Eastward are the various branches of Huntingdon Creek, which unites with Fishing Creek South of the village of Stillwater. These various streams drain the South face of the North mountain.

Passing North of the escarpment of the mountain we find Bowman's Creek and the Mahoopany flowing Eastwardly and Northeastwardly to junctions with the North branch of the Susquehanna at points North of where it cuts through the main mountain. At the head waters of these two streams, and interlocking with them we find the waters of the Loyalsock which stream flows Westward, cuts the mountain to its base, and unites with the West branch of the Susquehanna a few miles East of Williamsport. Bernice is on the Loyalsock on what is known as Birch Creek. Muncy creek waters are to the West of your line. An examination of the State map will show the relative positions of these several streams, and will indicate the positions of the hills, rolls and divides which cut up the plateau of the Allegheny mountain.

It might appear at first glance that the proper way to reach the elevation of the great Plateau was to follow down one of the larger streams. The great elevation from which these streams have to drop, and the peculiar geological character of the country, has caused them to flow to a greater or less extent in Canons with rugged slopes, sharp turns and crooks, and numerous vertical falls, making it very difficult to utilize their gorges for the purposes of a railroad. The inaccessibility of this region has caused it to be very little explored, and we find on the North mountain, probably the largest stretch of Virgin forest remaining in the State. Stretching from the head of the West branch of Fishing Creek Eastward along Bowman's Creek and the Mahoopany is a vast extent of unexplored territory, reaching North and South from the waters of the Loyalsock to the face of the North mountain, an area of several hundred thousand acres, entirely uninhabited, except a few scattered clearings on its outskirts.

The Fishing Creek waters appear to afford the best means of access to this territory, and the route selected and surveyed by Mr. Brown gives a road of workable grades which can be constructed at moderate expense. Considerable distance, of course, is lost in ascending the mountain, but this is a necessity, to secure workable grades. While I obtained a very fair knowledge of the topography of the country, more particularly of the valley of Fishing Creek proper and of the portion, North of the mountain on my recent trip, I could not in three or four days make a critical examination of the whole country. The waters of Huntingdon Creek might give an available route to the North mountain Plateau, though it is very doubtful if such a route would be better than the one selected by Mr. Brown. It is a question for you to consider whether it is worth while to examine the Huntingdon creek route instrumentally. By running directly to the foot of the mountain, and using incline planes to overcome the 1200 feet of elevation, some 17 miles of distance could be saved. I am inclined to think, however, that it is hardly worth while to consider such a scheme. A hurried trial line was run up the East branch of Fishing Creek, but no location has been projected on that route. If that route would better develop the land which you desire to reach, it might be well to make a location on the East branch, and compare the results with that of the present location. An outlet for this reason via. Fishing Creek will reach the principal markets South & East by a much less distance than can be had by a road following any of the streams which flow West of the mountain crest.

The object of my recent trip over the line of your proposed Railroad, was to obtain a general knowledge of the country and of its topography, character and resources. I was fortunate in being accompanied by Col. R. B. Ricketts of Wilkes-Barre, a gentleman who has made a thorough study of the North mountain district, who is perfectly familiar with its topography, Geology & resources, and who kindly placed at my disposal his private maps gave every explanation asked for, and piloted me from point to point, so that I was enabled to see much more in the time at my disposal than I could possibly have done without his aid.

The Fishing Creek Valley from Rupert to the mountain is a good farming country interspersed with numerous small villages. On either side of the valley is a farming country, which at present has no Railroad facilities nearer than the valley of the North branch of the Susquehanna. Immediately in the vicinity of Bloomsburg are large quantities of the well known fossil iron ore of the Montour ridge. With this exception there are no minerals of any commercial value along the line of the road South of the mountain. After leaving the valley of Fishing Creek we strike the timber region. The mountain Plateau is covered with a heavy growth of Spruce, Hemlock and hard wood, with a few isolated patches of White Pine. Col. Ricketts who has explored the region extensively, in company with experienced lumbermen estimates that there are not less than 200,000 acres of Virgin timber land on the mountain Plateau in Sullivan Luzerne & Wyoming Counties. Immediately on the Loyalsock there are several saw mills, the lumber from which I saw being hauled to Bernice. I am informed that at Thorndale and Laporte, both of which are West of the territory I examined, there are tanneries, in operation, and I saw some Hemlock timber which had been cut down, and from which the bark had been removed. I visited a high point on a clearing near the Wyoming County line which overlooked the valleys of the Loyalsock, Mahoopany and Bowmans Creeks, from which I could see vast areas of unbroken timber land extending to the limits of the horizon many miles from where I stood.

Ganoga Lake otherwise known as Long Pond, is a sheet of water about 1 mile long, situated near the Turnpike road and about 5½ miles North from the crest of the mountain, its outlet is by Kitchen Creek, a branch of Huntingdon Creek, which latter, as before stated, is a tributary of Fishing Creek. At Ganoga Lake is a clearing, on which there is a large and substantial two story stone house, a three story frame boarding house, barns and other buildings, the place having been improved and fitted up as a Summer Watering Place, capable of accommodating from 200 to 250 guests. After leaving the Loyalsock creek to come South—"Ganoga Lake" is the only habitation on the mountain, and East and West of it is an unbroken wilderness for many miles in either direction. A large tract of land around and including Ganoga Lake is owned by Col. Ricketts, who is the only person that has explored this section for minerals, and I am indebted to him for the information which I obtained in the matter. Col. Ricketts has made a number of drifts, test pits and shafts, some of which I visited and examined. A bed of valuable Yellow Ochre has been opened at a number of places. It varies from 3 to 6 feet thick. Col. Ricketts estimates it to average 4 feet in thickness, and states that he has traced it sufficiently to warrant him in claiming that it underlies 10,000 acres; what it may be beyond this area is not known.

Immediately under the Ochre bed is a vein of iron ore about twelve inches thick. It shows at the outcrop as a brown Hematite; whether it remains the same under cover, cannot be stated, as it has not been developed. Col. Ricketts reports it as giving about 33 per cent. of metallic iron, being very low in Phosphorus and Sulphur, and containing about 6 per cent. of Manganese. The next lower strata is ten feet in thickness of brown shale and ore. The ore seems to be about 3 feet thick, red in color, probably low in metallic iron, and a specimen tested is reported as showing 1 per cent. of Phosphorus. About 200 feet lower in the measures there is an iron ore deposit. I examined it at a trench dug in the hill side on Ore Run, about 1½ miles West of Ganoga Lake. The face of the hill is very steep and covered with fragments of rock which make it difficult to follow the strata. Col. Ricketts found a bed of bog manganese under the ore, which has been his guide in tracing the vein. The section shows 12 inches of ore in the bottom, then 5 feet of red shale, then 16 inches of ore, then 6 inches greenish shale, and lastly 18 inches of ore, making in all a thickness of four feet two inches of ore in a height of nine feet eight inches. This ore has a blush color, and is probably a carbonate. It has not been tested in any way, nor opened elsewhere.

I have been shown fine specimens of shot ore which I am informed exists as a bed 8 feet thick on Elk Run and on the West Branch of Fishing Creek. Col. Ricketts has not found the shot ore on his property, but he states that it seems to occupy about the same geological horizon as the deposit on Ore Run above described. He also states that while exploring the various branches of the Mahoopany creek he found specimens of Brown Hematite iron ore, which as nearly as he could judge came from the same horizon, there being bog ore springs and exposures of bog manganese adjacent.

On the mountain Plateau we find a layer of impure Limestone well stratified and thin bedded. The presence of this limestone probably accounts for the good quality of the soil found in this section of the country.

The unsettled condition of the district and the absence of means of communication have prevented any extensive exploration of the ore deposits here described, and no actual workings have been made on a large scale, therefore I cannot express any opinion as to the commercial values of the ores.

The town of Bernice, the Northern terminus of your line and the Southern terminus of your State line and the Sullivan Railroad, is situated on Birch Run. It is a scattering village of miners and workmen, houses, with a few stores, a hotel, saw mill and coal breaker. At this point the geological measures which form the surface further South, have sunk so as to form a narrow isolated trough or basin which contains the two lower coal veins. I had no opportunity to personally examine the coal deposits at this place, nor to ascertain definitely their extent. To do so would be a work of considerable time. The State geological report of Sullivan County, published in 1880, goes into some detail relative to this region, but Col. Ricketts and others interested in lands take decided exceptions to the thoroughness and correctness of that report in many particulars. While I do not pretend to advance my judgment against that of well known professional geologists who have examined this district of country as a business, I must say that the observations which I made on the ground, not so much at Bernice as in the country South of it, lead me to believe that the present published reports need considerable revision. I undertand that during the past summer this district has been revisited by an officer of the State Survey, and that a re-examination has been ordered. The State report does not give the acreage of coal available at Bernice, and I have not been able to obtain it from other sources.

The information which Col. Ricketts gives me is to the effect that there are two veins of coal, the upper one measuring 11 feet (the State Survey gives it at about 8 feet) the lower one 4 feet (the State Survey says 2 feet) with about 55 feet of intervening rocks. That the upper vein is found only in the Birch Creek basin, but that the lower vein occupies a much larger area. The line between Sullivan and Wyoming Counties lies about 7 miles East of Bernice, and Wyoming County, as yet, has not been officially reported on. Col. Ricketts claims, while the area of Birch Creek basin, as laid down on geological map of Sullivan County, is substantially correct, that there is a large basin of the lower vein of coal in Wyoming County, both North & South of the Mahoopany Creek. That this basin being an unexplored wilderness, has not been thoroughly examined, but that in September last he visited it, in company with Mr. Hill, one of the assistants of the State Survey and saw two openings in the coal, one of which was driven in about 300 feet. He tells me, that he and Mr. Hill decided that there was about 20 square miles of area of the lower coal vein. From what I could see of the Topography of the country, and in view of the small vertical distance between the two seams of coal, I cannot resist the conclusion, that if there is any such area of the lower vein there must also be a considerable area of the upper vein of coal in the same territory. Of course you care nothing about County lines, or differences of opinion between geologists on Scientific points, but you are interested in the actual facts as bearing on the sources of revenue for your railroad. The inaccessibility of this district has prevented a thorough examination being made, but it is to be hoped, that the question of the mineral deposits of this region will be definitely settled one way or the other.

The sources of Revenue for your Railroad are therefore:

1. The general business, (passenger and freight,) incident to a prosperous farming country of considerable width, extending for some 27 miles along your road. Lime is needed for the farm lands, which will be hauled in from the North Branch Valley. Coal for fuel, store goods and miscellaneous freight will be considerable items. Farm produce, cross-ties and miscellaneous freight will be the business going out.

2. Lumber business from the mountain lands should be a large item. The present demand for sawed lumber, bill timber, mine ties, props and lagging through the anthracite coal district, affords a home market, now supplied from more distant points, and for which you would practically have the monopoly. Hemlock bark is at present in great demand for tanning purposes, and is growing scarcer and dearer every year. A branch line about 10 miles long from your main line on Loyalsock Creek to the waters of the Mahoopany should practically control the immense timber supply on the waters of the latter stream, and would also serve to develop the coal deposits which it is possible may be opened in that district, The local information which I have been furnished with is, that Hemlock bark is now selling at $7.50 per cord on board cars at Bernice, that with a railroad built in this region it can be readily sold at $3.00 per cord on the tree, and that the prices that can be realized for Stumpage of lumber are Hemlock $3.00, Spruce $5. to $6., White Pine $8, to $10. and that Hemlock lumber is now sellling readily throughout the coal district at $15. to $16. The building of your railroad would at once bring this immense body of timber into market, and while making large profits to the land owners would furnish freight to the road. As the timber is at present practically excluded from market, and therefore utterly worthless, and an expense for taxes to its owners, it would seem that the true interest of the land owners would be to combine and build the Railroad themselves; or furnish the capital to do so, pro rata on their holdings of land.

3. The building of the Fishing Creek Railroad will afford a short line South & East, to the principal markets of the country for the coals of the Bernice and adjacent basins, the amount of which will be limited only by the extent of those basins, as I understand the coal is of superior quality and an especial favorite for household use.

I have not attempted to make any figures on the foregoing sources of revenue. That is a matter that is not in my province, but it is a subject for the consideration of parties building the road.

What Struck an Old Soldier.
"It will soon be twenty years since the war closed."
Under the hot sun of August, 1882, the village of Dover, N. J., lay still as the sphinx in Egypt, while Elijah Sharp, of that place, slowly spoke of the past. "Yes," he said, "I was in the army and saw many of the sights of those fearful years. I was finally discharged from disability, resulting from sunstroke. I came home miserable in health and spirits; so enfeebled that I took cold on the slightest exposure. Life seemed worthless to me; I lived only in memory."
"That was sad enough," I said, dividing my last two cigars.
"That's so," responded Mr. Sharp; "but I got over it. Outgrew it? Not exactly. When in that condition I began taking PARKER'S TONIC, and my health commenced to improve right away. I was astonished at it and so was my wife. I piled on the flesh and could eat anything. My ambition blazed up. I could attend to business, and now—excepting that I have to take care about exposing myself to the hot sun—I am as well as I was the day I enlisted. What differences there are in things—guns and bayonets kill; PARKER'S TONIC saves."
This preparation, which has been known as PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, will hereafter be called simply PARKER'S TONIC. As unprincipled dealers are constantly deceiving their customers by substituting inferior articles under the name of ginger, and as the ginger is really an unimportant ingredient, we drop the misleading word.
There is no change, however, in the preparation itself, and all bottles remaining in the hands of dealers, wrapped under the name of PARKER'S GINGER TONIC, contain the genuine medicine if the fac-simile signature of Hiscox & Co., is at the bottom of the outside wrapper.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

A DUTY I OWE.

Williamsport, Pa., Dec. 21, 1882.

JOHN. H. PHELPS, Scranton, Pa., Dear Sir—I feel it my duty to inform you how much good you have done me through your Rheumatic Elixir. I have been a very bad sufferer with Inflammatory Rheumatism for over two years, half of the time not able to walk without crutches or canes. I have used three bottles of your Rheumatic Elixir. I pronounce myself entirely cured of rheumatism when all other remedies and treatment failed to give relief. And I am in better health now than I have been for years. I hope your circulars with their wonderful testimonials, will reach every sufferer with that terrible disease, rheumatism, and may encourage them to give the Rheumatic Elixir a thorough trial. I can recommend the Rheumatic Elixir with great confidence.

I am respectfully yours,
J. H. ARNOLD.

Want of confidence accounts for half of the business failures of to-day. C. A. The kind we like most like is that which does its work quick and well. Burdock Blood Bitters are the quickest kind of a cure for dyspepsia and kidney and liver affections.

CONVINCING.

The proof of the pudding is not in chewing the string, but in having an opportunity to test the article direct. C. A. TO REPAIR DAMAGES.

Dear lady, there is probably no use telling you that fashionable life in a great city is a rough one on your beauty. Late hours, loss of sleep and mental excitement will leave you by and by short of those beautiful tresses which drew lovers around you in other years. Artificial substitutes can never pass for those rich and glossy locks. Parker's Hair Balsam will stop your hair from falling out, restore its natural color and softness, and prove cleansing and beneficial to the scalp.

U. S. SURGEON RECOMMENDS.

Dr. J. M. G. Pheeton, is a U. S. Ex-Surgeon, residing now at Bloomington, Ind. The Dr. Writes, to say: "I recommend Samaritan Nervine because it cures epilepsy." Physicians, generally, are its friends.

DYSPEPSIA IN ITS WORST FORM CURED.

Rheumatic Syrup Co:

Wolcott, N. Y., Sept. 25th, 1883.

Gents—I think it my duty to recommend your syrup for rheumatism, dyspepsia and sick headache. I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years; have tried every remedy recommended, and physicians have failed to give me any relief. Had to be careful what I ate, for I was almost crazed with pain after meals. And for ten years or more have been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. It finally settled all over me. The pain was so severe I could'nt endure it, and could get nothing to relieve me. My arms I could not move; was confined to my bed, and I was completely discouraged. Finally my husband thought I had better try Rheumatic Syrup. As a last resort I told him to get a bottle. I had no faith in it, but was compelled to do something, for I could not endure the pain. I commenced taking it, and in a short time it began to help me. Have been taking it six weeks and am now doing my own housework, and can safely recommend it as a sure cure for Rheumatism or Dyspepsia. Any one troubled with either of those dreadful diseases can be cured by using Rheumatic Syrup. I know it is a sure cure for either. Any one is at liberty to correspond with me in regard to the merits of this wonderful medicine.

Yours respectfully,
MRS. O. A. HANCHETT.

IT IS IN GREAT FAVOR.

About sixty million copies of The Sun have gone out of our establishment during the past twelve months.

If you were to paste end to end all the columns of all the Suns printed and sold last year you would get a continuous strip of interesting information, common sense wisdom, sound doctrine, and sane wit long enough to reach from Printing House square to the top of Mount Copernicus in the moon, then back to Printing House square, and then three-quarters of the way back to the moon again.

But the Sun is written for the inhabitants of the earth; this same strip of intelligence would girdle the globe twenty-seven or four times.

If every buyer of a copy of the Sun during the past year has spent only one hour over it, and if his wife or his grandfather has spent another hour, this newspaper in 1883 has afforded the human race thirteen thousand years of steady reading, night and day.

It is only by little calculations like these that you can form any idea of the circulation of the most popular of American newspapers, or of its influence on the opinions and actions of American men and women.

The Sun is, and will continue to be, a newspaper which tells the truth without fear or consequence, which goes at the facts no matter how much the process costs, which presents the news of all the world without waste of words and in the most readable shape which is working with all its heart for the cause of honest government, and which therefore believes that the Republican party must go, and must go in this coming year of our Lord, 1884.

If you know the Sun, you like it already, and you will read it with accustomed diligence and profit during what is sure to be the most interesting year in its history. If you do not yet know the Sun, it is high time to get into the sunshine.

The Press

THE FOREMOST REPUBLICAN NEWSPAPER

FOR THE PRESIDENTIAL YEAR, 1884.
Weekly Press, - - - $1.00 a Year.
Daily Press, - - - -$6.00 a Year.

The coming year will be notable. Congress divided between a Republican Senate and a Democratic House, will be busy President-making. The great battle of Protection against Free Trade will agitate the Capitol and the country. The Presidential campaign will be the hardest fought and most exciting political struggle for a quarter of a century. Europe, in the opinion of the best informed, trembles on the eve of a great war.

With such an outlook a live newspaper which prints all the news and tells the whole truth about it is more than ever a necessity. Such a newspaper is THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS. Telegraph wires in its own office place it in instantaneous communication with a corps of over five hundred news gatherers distributed all over the civilized world. The special daily cable service which it shares with the New York Herald covers every phase of activity in European life. No paper excels it in all the elements which go to make up a broad, full, complete journal.

Besides being a complete newspaper, THE WEEKLY PRESS has several special features which put it at the top. The AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT, enriched by constant contributions from the foremost writers in various branches, gives the practical things that people want to know on the farm and in the garden. The HELPING HAND FOR WOMEN or Home Department, edited by Mrs. Kate Upson Clark, is full of information, hints and happy thoughts for every wife, mother and head of a household.

A great feature of the coming year will be the highly valuable letters of JOSEPH D. WEEKS on Wages of Working-men, the general conditions of labor and the Cost of Living in Europe as compared with America. Mr. Weeks, who had charge of this subject for the Census of 1880, has made it a life study, and has been abroad this year conducting a special investigation. His letters will give the facts as to earnings in all the various industries, the purchasing power of wages, strikes, trades-unionism, arbitration, etc.

THE WEEKLY PRESS is full of choice home reading, with puzzles and other matter for the little folks, stories and pastimes for adults and children, fashion notes, recipes, gleanings from current literature, a careful summary of domestic and foreign news, and an earnest discussion of the great questions of the day.

Sample copies mailed free.

CATARRH

HAY-FEVER.

I can recommend Ely's Cream Balm to all Hay Fever sufferers, it being, in my opinion, founded upon experience and a sure cure. I was afflicted with Hay Fever for 25 years, and never before found permanent relief. WEBSTER H. HASKINS, Marshfield, Vt.

Apply by little finger into the nostrils, by absorption it effectually cleanses the nasal passages of catarrhal virus, causing healthy secretions. It allays Inflammation, protects the membranal linings of the head from additional colds, completely heals the sores and restores the sense of taste and smell. Beneficial results are realized by a few applications. A thorough treatment will cure. Unequalled for colds in the head. Agreeable to use. Send for circular. Sold by druggists.
